Box listing

This collection is divided into five sections. Section I consists primarily of unpublished conference and research papers concerning the Portuguese Revolution and produced between 1962 and 1994; the section also contains a few press releases, interviews, and declarations. Section II consists of longer runs of Portuguese newspapers, and some periodicals, from 1974 to 1980. Section III is comprised of monographs and particular issues dedicated to Portugal of a few journals. Section IV is made up of subject files containing assorted publications, including some flyers and posters. Section V consists of random issues of newspapers and magazines that provide a more general news coverage for the period. Contents for each section are detailed below.

Most of these materials were gathered by Professor Kenneth Maxwell of The Council on Foreign Relations, with some of the newspapers from the collection of Professor Nancy Bermeo of Princeton University. Princeton University Library is grateful to them for facilitating the use of these materials in order to preserve them on microfilm.

These original materials are distributed into 41 boxes, the contents of which are listed below. In January 2007, the boxes were given the call number DP681.D628 1962 and sent to ReCAP (RBSC off-site storage).
